

GRATITUDE AND APPRECIATION LETTER

To Whom it May Concern

The International Conference “Languages, Literature and Culture Education” was successfully organized at Hanoi Pedagogical University 2 on 05 December, 2020. The International conference “Languages, Literature and Culture Education” received 61 articles (54 papers published in the conference proceedings and 7 presented in posters, in which there are two keynote speeches from the University of Queensland, Australia). The articles cover different themes including new trends of linguistics studying; the application of theories of linguistics into teaching at universities and schools; the use of mother tongue - Vietnamese in the foreign language classrooms, innovations in the teaching of phonetics, lexicology, grammar, translation – interpretation; the study of culture and literature in the context of globalisation; the new trends of literature study; the development of training programmes; professional development for high school teachers of literature and Vietnamese at schools to meet the requirements of educational innovations; the application of open learning resources and digital technologies in the teaching and learning of languages, literature and culture; virtual learning environments, E-learning, blended/hybrid learning and teaching.

The conference has created a forum for announcing the new findings, analyses, speculations, scientific results by the researchers, scholars, lecturers and teachers domestically as well as internationally about the changes in the field of language, literature and cultures research and education under the influence of globalization, innovation requirements, integration and the development of digital technology.

On behalf of the Organizing Committee , We would like to express our great thanks and appreciations for generous support and collaboration of our many sponsors, organizations, delegates, scientists and our many passionate volunteers that assists in succession of the conference events. We would love to receive your continuing interest and cooperation for upcoming events organized by Hanoi Pedagogical University 2.

Thank you and wish you health, happiness and success!

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Bui Kien Cuong

Conference Committee Chair

Website: <http://hpu2.edu.vn/vi-VN/khcn&-htqt-llce>.