

SUMMARY OF DOCTORAL THESIS

Author's name: Le Thi Hong

Thesis title: “Developing the capacity of teaching reading comprehension for undergraduate students majoring in Primary Education”

The science of the thesis: social science

Major: Education Code: 9 14 01 01

Name of graduate training institution: Hanoi National University of Pedagogy
Thesis purpose and objectives

1. Purpose and research object of the thesis

The aim of the thesis:

The thesis has explored the experience of teaching reading comprehension texts in some countries around the world and domestic research documents. The thesis has proposed a number of teaching measures to develop the capacity of teaching reading comprehension for undergraduate students majoring in Primary Education: Designing competency standards; Determining the content of teaching reading comprehension for students of the Faculty of Primary Education; Determining and choosing teaching methods of pedagogical lecturers; Determining a method to evaluate the results of students' reading comprehension ability

2. Research methods used

The author has used many different groups of research methods, so they have high reliability, specifically: theoretical overview methods, practical research methods, data processing methods and statistics, etc. ensure scientific and objective in research.

3. Main results and conclusions

3.1. Main results

Scientific value of the author's published works related to the thesis: The author has published 3 research works in prestigious domestic journals such as Education Journal. The research results announced by the author have practical value, solving practical problems in teaching reading comprehension for university students in Primary Education today.

3.2. Conclusion

- Compared with the requirements of the doctoral thesis, the thesis Developing the capacity of teaching reading comprehension for undergraduate students in primary education of graduate student Le Thi Hong has met the requirements.

- The thesis is a topical research topic that is urgent and solves the problems in the current situation of the ability to teach reading comprehension of primary school teachers, the reality of training students in primary education at universities as well as in the field of reading comprehension. and at the same time meet the requirements of current general education reform.

On behalf of academic supervisors

PhD. Student

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Hanh', with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.

Assoc. Dr. Nguyen Thi Hanh

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Hong', with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.

Le Thi Hong